

Ellenore Scott, most recently appearing as a finalist on the prime time television show, "So You Think You Can Dance" as well as the 82nd Annual Academy Awards, is a New York professional dancer and choreographer. Ellenore has danced with numerous dance companies in New York City, is a guest artist with the Sonya Tayeh Dance Company and has appeared on a number of television shows including The Ellen Show and One Life to Live. In addition to pursuing her dance career, Ellenore is working as an aspiring choreographer. She has assisted Earl Mosley in setting "Saddle Up!" on the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater. Ellenore received Honorable Mention from the National Foundation for the Advancement of the Arts and is an Honors Graduate from Fiorello H. LaGuardia High School (The "FAME" School). She loves working in her community and helping young dancers learn dance technique as well as teaching them to be unique as themselves.